Dear Mr. László,

I have written to all the masters concerned, and told them of the Council Meeting at 5 p.m. on Monday next the 9th inst. I wrote to Mr. Brangwyn and asked him to come if he possibly can, and said that I believed you were writing to him on the same subject.

I shall be consulting with Mr. Jack as to the students of your class, and I hope to be able to give you a few who will not be too bad.

Thank you very much for entertaining me last night; I am afraid however that I wasted a great deal of your valuable time, because the subjects which we discussed were so interesting to me.

If you have time, would you please send a line to Mr. Brangwyn as I should very much like him to come, if possible, and I feel that if he thinks it is only I who want him, he might feel that it was waste of time. If, however, you put it to him that it is for the good of the school to discuss the method which we intend to carry out, I feel sure that he would try to be here.

Yours sincerely,

W. Franklyn Helmore
