

24th September, 1933.

Dear Mrs. Munn,

I have just returned from Vallière where I had a pleasant little holiday, and I was pleased on my return to find your letter at my hotel.

I am so glad to know you are in Paris during my short sojourn here, as I came over only to paint the portrait of General Pershing for the Palais de la Légion d'Honneur.

I much look forward to the pleasure of lunching with you on Tuesday, the 26th, and I presume you lunch at 1 o'clock?

We can then talk over the matter of your portrait, which I am longing to see, and I will do my best to put right whatever is wrong while I am here. I will not be staying longer than till Thursday.

Much looking forward to the pleasure of seeing you again, and with kind regards,

Sincerely yours,
