My dear Friend,

I have just received your letter of the 22nd, and also the telegram. Of course I am very disappointed that Dr. Légrády and Herczeg Ferenc cannot be in Paris while I am there, but I hope in the Autumn to have the opportunity to paint these two outstanding men.

I would be very glad indeed to know that my book was translated into Hungarian, and when you are here I am sure I will be able to arrange for Holme to come here to dinner one evening to meet you. He is the owner of the "Studio" magazine, and his firm were the publishers of the book. No doubt you and he will be able to arrange regarding the copyright, and he would lend you the plates for the book.

I am very busy until the last moment before I leave for Paris on Friday. If you have anything important to write me, please send it to the Hotel Majestic, Avenue Kléber, Paris.

Kindly remember us both to Dr. Légrády, and we send our heartiest greetings to you and Madame Siklossy.

Looking forward to our meeting here, when we hope to see much of you, and will have ample time to discuss matters before we leave for Salzburg and Italy on August 2nd,

Ever yours,

in friendship
W. D. G.

Dr. László Siklossy.
